Poetry.

MY OWN PLACE.

BY MARTIN F. TUPPER

Whoever I am, wherever my lot,
Whatever I happen to be,
Contentment and duty shall hallow the spot,
That Providence ordains for me;
Not covetous striving and straining to gain
One feverish step in advance,—
I know my own place, and you tempt me in vain
To hazard a change and a chance.

I care for no riches that are not my right,
No honor that is not my due;
But stand in my station by day or by night,
The will of my Master to do;
He lent me my lot, be it humble or high,
And set me my business here,
And whether I live in his service, or die,
My heart shall be found in my sphere.

If wealthy, I stand as the steward of my King;
If poor, as the friend of my Lord;
If feeble, my prayers and my praise I bring;
If stalwart, my pen or my sword;
If wisdom be mine, I will cherish his gift;
If simpleness, bask in his love;
If sorrow, his hope shall my spirit uplift,
If joy, I will throne it above!

The good that it pleases my God to bestow,
I gratefully gather and prize;
The evil—it can be no evil, I know,
But only a good in disguise;
And whether my station be lowly or great,
No duty can ever be mean,
The factory cripple is fixed in his fate,
As well as a king or a queen!

For Duty's bright livery glorifies all,
With brotherhood, equal and free,
Obeying, as children, the heavenly call,
That places us where we should be;
A servant—the badge of my servitude shines
As a jewel invested by heaven;
A monarch—remember that justice assigns
Much service where so much is given!

Away then with "helpings" that humble and harm,
Though "bettering" trips from your tongue;
Away! for your folly would scatter the charm
That round my proud poverty hung;
I felt that I stood like a man at my post,
Though peril and hardship were there,—
And all that your wisdom would counsel me most,
I—"Leave it—do better elsewhere."

If "better" were better indeed, and not "worse,"
I might go ahead with the rest,
But many a gain and a joy is a curse,
And many a grief for the best;
No!—duties are all the "advantage" I use;
I pine not for praise or for pelf;
As to ambition, I care not to choose
My better or worse for myself!

I will not, I dare not, I cannot!—I stand
Where God has ordained me to be,
An honest mechanic—or lord in the land—
He fitted my calling for me,
Whatever my state, be it weak, be it strong,
With honor, or sweat on my face,
This, this is my glory, my strength, and my song,
I stand, like a star, in my PLACE.

A Lawyer in A Predicament.

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser is responsible for the following:

"Yesterday, a clinker-built row boat, containing four gentlemen engaged in fishing, was capsized in the Niagara river near the head of Grand Island. Three of the party escaped with only a moderate ducking, but the other, a legal gentleman, was less fortunate. By some process, which it would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to explain, he managed during the moment of capsizing, to get his head in the bait bucket, with the bail around his neck. This novel helmet rather embarrassed his motions in swimming, though he showed great alacrity in sinking.

He went under, to the horror of his companions, though they might have known that he would not stay there a great while. Coming to the surface he made a few desperate plunges to get off his blinder, and then went down again. Several feet beneath the surface he found the water too wet for comfort, and came up like another Venus Aphrodite, the bucket still concealing all above his shoulders. This time he was fished out and helped to the boat, where he succeeded in getting clear of his head gear. He was not much worse for the accident. He got rid of the water he had swallowed as soon as possible, then disentangled a half dozen minnies from his curly hair and whiskers, took a long breath, and gently murmured, "By thunder!" The party were soon rescued by other boats."

☞ "What are you looking after, my dear!" said a very affectionate mother to her daughter. The daughter looked around and thus replied: "Looking after a son-in-law for father."

THE OLD CARTMAN.

BY BLUNDERBUSS.

[From the San Francisco Golden Era.]

I have a mind to tell a little story. That it is brief, may be seen at a glance; that it's true I most emphatically avow. If the reader despise it because of the first, or the editors of the Era reject it for the reason of the last, then I will eschew truth in the future, and devote myself to the elaboration of lies into chapters and the purest fictions into volumes of seventeen hundred pages each.

With this understanding, I proceed at once to remark that five yerrs ago, or thereabouts, John Ainsley— or "Pap Ainsley," as he was familiarly called—was the owner of a hand cart, and earned a living by conveying miscellaneous parcels from one section of the city to another, receiving therefor the reasonable remuneration of fifty cents per load. To designate the occupation in the prosiest language possible, he was a hand-cartman, and when not employed, could always be found during working hours at the corner of Montgomery and California streets. His hair and long beard were buite gray and his limbs feeble; and if he could not shove as heavy a load through the deep sand or up the steep grade above him as the stalwart Teuton on the opposite corner, thereby losing many a job and many a dollar, all the light loads in the neighborhood fell to his lot, and kind hearted men not unfrequently traveled a square or two out of their way to give an easy job to "Pap Ainsley."

Four years ago last September, (I recollect the month, for I had a note of four thousand dollars to pay, and was compelled to do some pretty sharp financering to meet it,) having two or three dozen volumes to transfer to my lodging, I gave Pap Ainsley the task of transportation. Arriving at my room just as he had deposited the last armful on the table, and observing that the old man looked fatigued after climbing three flights of stairs five or six times, I invited him to take a glass of brandy—a bottle of which I usually kept in my room for medical and soporific purposes. Although grateful for the invitation, he politely declined. I urged but he was inflexible. I was astonished.

"Do you never drink?" said I.

"Very seldom," he replied, dropping into a chair at my request, and wiping the perspiration from his forehead.

"Well, if you drink at all," I insisted, "you will not find as fair an excuse in the next twelvemonth for indulging, for you appear fatigued and scarcely able to stand."

"To be frank," said the old man, "I do not drink now. I have not tasted intoxicating liquor for fifteen years since——"

"Since when?" I inquired) thoughtlessly, observing his hesitation.

The old man told me. Sixteen years ago he was a well-to-do farmer near Syracuse, New York. He had one child, a daughter. While attending a boarding school in that city then a girl of sixteen years of age, she formed an attachment for a young physician. Acquainting her father of the circumstances, he flatly refused his consent to her union with a man he had never seen; and removing her from school, dispatched a note to the young gallant, with the somewhat pointed information, that his presence in the neighborhood of the Ainsley farm would not meet with favor. The reader of course surmises the result. In less than a month there was an elopement. The father loaded his double-barrelled shot-gun, and swore vengeance, but failing to find the fugitives, he took to the bottle. His good wife implored him not to give way to despair, but he drank the deeper, and accused her of encouraging the elopement. In three months the wife died, and at the expiration of a year, when the young couple returned to Syracuse from Connecticut, where they had remained with the parents of the husband, they learned that the old man had sold his farm, squandered the proceeds, and was almost destitute. Learning of their arrival, Ainsley drank himself into a frenzy, and proceeded to the hotel where they were stopping, attacked the husband, wounding him in the arm with a pistol shot, and then attempting the life of his daughter, who happily escaped uninjured through the interposition of persons brought to the spot by the report of the pistol. Ainsley was arrested, tried and acquitted on the plea of insanity. The daughter and her husband returned to Connecticut, since which time the father had not heard from them. He was sent to a lunatic asylum, from which he was dismissed after remaining six months. In 1851 he came to California. He had followed mining for two years, but finding his strength unequal to the pursuit, returned to the city, purchased a hand-cart, and——the rest is known. "Since then," concluded the old man, bowing his face in his hands in agony, "I have not tasted liquor, nor have I seen my poor child."

I regretted that I had been so inquisitive, and expressed to the sufferer the sympathy I really felt for him. After that, I seldom passed the corner without looking for Pap Ainsley, and never saw him but to think of the sad story he had told me.

One chilly, drizzling day in the December following, a gentleman having purchased a small marble top table at an auction room opposite, offered to the old man the job of conveying it to his residence, on Stockton street. Not wishing to accompany the carrier, he had selected the face, probably giving the best assurance of the careful delivery of the purchase.

Furnished with the number of the house, the old cartman, after a pretty trying struggle with the steep ascent of California street, reached his destination, and deposited the table in the hall. Lingering a moment, the lady did not surmise the reason, until he politely informed her that her husband (for such he took him to be) had probably by accident neglected to settle for the cartage.

"Very well, I will pay you," said the lady, stepping into an adjoining room. She returned, and stating that she had no small coin in the house, handed the man a twenty dollar piece.

He could not make change. "Never mind, I will call to-morrow," said he turning to go.

"No, no!" replied the lady, glancing pityingly at his white locks and trembling limbs; "I will not put you to so much trouble;" and she handed the coin to Bridget, with instructions to see if she could get it changed at one of the stores or markets in the neighborhood.

"Step into the parlor until the girl returns; the air is chilly, and you must be cold," continued the lady, kindly. "Come," she added, as he looked at his attire and hesitated: "there is a fire in the grate, and no one there but the children."

"It is somewhat chilly," replied the old man, following her into the parlor, and taking a seat near the fire. "Perhaps I may find some silver in the house," said the lady, leaving the room, for I fear Bridget will not succeed in getting the twenty dollar piece changed."

"Come—I love little children," and the child who had been watching him with curiosity run behind the large arm chair, hesitatingly approached.

"What is your name, dear?" inquired the cartman.

"Maria," lisped the little one.

"Maria?" he repeated while the great tears gathered in his eyes; I once had a little girl named Maria, and you look very much like she did."

"Did you?" inquired the child with seeming interest, "and was her name Maria Eastman, too?"

"Merciful God!" exclaimed the old man, starting from his chair and dropping into it with his head bowed upon his breast. "This cannot be! and yet, why not!"

He caught the child in his arms with an eagerness that frightened her, and gazing into her face until he found conviction there, suddenly rose to leave the house. "I cannot meet her without betraying myself, and I dare not tell her that I am that drunken father who once attempted to take her life, and perhaps left her husband a cripple," he groaned, as he hurried towards the door.

The little ones were bewildered. "You are not going?" said the mother re-appearing, and and discovering the old man in the act of passing into the hall.

He stopped and apparently turned his face, but seemed to lack the resolution to do ought else.

"He said he had a little Maria once, that looked just like me, mother," shouted the child, her eyes sparkling with delight.

The knees of the old cartman trembled and he leaned against the door for support. The lady sprang towards him, seized him by the arm, and attempted to conduct him toward a chair.

"No, no! he exclaimed, "not till you tell me I am forgiven!"

"Forgiven?—for what?" replied the mother,

"Recognize in me your wretched father, and I need not tell you!" he faltered.

"My poor father!" she cried, throwing her arms around his neck; "all is forgiven—all forgotten!"

All was forgiven, and the husband when he returned late in the afternoon was scarcely less rejoiced than his good wife at the discovery. Whether or not Bridget succeeded in changing the double eagle, I never learned; but this I do know—it took the honest female all of two months to unravel the knot into which the domestic affairs of the family had tied themselves during her absence. Pap Ainsley still keeps his cart, for money would not induce him to part with it. I peeped into the back yard of Dr. Eastman, one day last week, and discovered the old man dragging the favorite vehicle round the enclosure, with his four grand children piled promiscuously into it.

"You can't Pass."

Persons rob one another every day, but he must have been a clever fellow who robbed the Prefecture de Police (the head police officer in Paris.) And this a man did whose name has become historical—Beaumont. He was the Jack Sheppard among thieves.

When Beaumont accomplished the immortalizing feat (amongst his brethern) he had just returned from the Bagne, (the galleys) at Brest. It took place in the days of the celebrated Vidocq. He actually robbed the strong box at the head police office, and this box contained, not only bank notes, but all the jewelry which is found, or in any way comes into the hands of the police. After his return from the galleys, he frequently called upon Monsieur Henry, principal officer of the second division of police, and these visits were made under pretence of making certain revelations, or giving useful information, in the hopes of becoming attached to the police himself.

Monsieur Henry's office was next to the cashier's office. In going and coming, Beaumont had keys made to fit them. This was, doubtless, a great point gained, but it was not all; it was necessary to watch a moment when the cashier would be out, not home, or having left his office, and when Monsieur Henry, who never scarcely was absent, should be away. Everything turns well for those who choose to wait patiently. Beaumont found the long watched for opportunity, and as he never did any thing hastily, he did all at his ease this time, and as cleverly as quietly. He put on a black coat belonging to Monsieur Henry, a dress then little worn, except by those high in office; he walked down stairs and went to the nearest guard house, asked for the officer, who took him for some high official, and two soldiers were sent with him, without the least difficulty.

Beaumont gravely placed them at each end of the corridor, with strict orders to let no one pass until further directions. It was very daring but equally sure. When he had made his selection amongst heaps of precious things, and filled his pockets with gold and jewels, he passed one of the sentinels and said:

"That's right my friend. I am going to the head director's. Everything must remain as I have left until my return; I shall soon be back: let no one pass."

But the office hours arrived, and all the clerks too, high and low.

"You can't pass!" they were told.

So they all went out and walked up and down the yard. Some, however, went round, at last, tired of waiting, to the other entrance.

But "You can't pass!" again saluted their ears.

Then came the head of the office, and lastly Monsieur Henry himself, who did not take matters quite so quietly. He ran to the guard house. The officer knew nothing of the rank or name of the functionary who had asked for a guard. To release the soldiers from their duty the minister of the police had to be sent for, and they got in. If a thunderbolt had fallen among them all, they could not have been more dumbfounded. The strong box was rifled, and the ground strewn with rejected valuables. Who could have done it? To whom attribute the audacious act? All the persons employed were under examination and suspicion, when Beaumont was betrayed by a comrade, and condemned a second time. He had stolen several hundred thousand francs, the greater part of which was found upon him.

"There was wherewithal to have become an honest man; I should have turned one," he said.

"It is easily done when you are rich; yet how many of the wealthy are rogues!" This is all he uttered. He was sent to Brest, where he died, leaving an immortal name among the thieves.

Inclined to be Quarrelsome.

We heard that prince of story-tellers, Tom Calloway, get off the following, midst bursts of laughter, the other night. Squaring himself, and stretching out his legs, he began:

There was once a little, slim built fellow, rich as a Jew, and independent as the devil, riding along a highway in the state of Georgia, when he overtook a man driving a drove of hogs by the help of a big, raw-bone specimen of humanity. Stopping the last named individual, he accosted him—

"I say, are these your hogs?"

"No sir, I'm to work by the month."

"What pay might you be getting, my friend?"

"Ten dollars a month, and whiskey thrown in," was the reply.

"Well, look here, I'm a weak, little, inoffensive man, and people are apt to impose upon me, do you see. Now, I'll give you twenty-five dollars per month to ride along with me and protect me," was Gardner's reply. "But, he added, as a thought struck him, "how might you be on a fight?"

"Never been licked in my life" rejoined six footer.

"Just the man I want. It's a bargain, replied Gardner.

Six-footer ruminated. Twenty-five dollars—double wages—nothing to do but ride around and smash a fellow's mug occasionally, when he's sassy. Six-footer accepted.

They rode along till just at night they reached a village. Dismounting at the door, they went in. Gardner immediately singled out the biggest man in the room, and picked up a fuss with him. After considerable promiscuous jawing, Gardner turned to his fighting friend and intimated that the licking of that man had become a sad necessity. Six footer peeled, went in and came out first best.

The next night, at another hotel, the same scene was re-enacted; Gardner getting into a row with the biggest man in the place, and six-footer doing the fighting.

At last on the third day they came to a ferry, kept by a huge double-fisted man who had never been licked in his life. Whilst crossing the river, Gardner as usual, began to find fault and "blow." The ferryman naturally got mad threw things round kind o'loose, and then told them his opinion of their kind. Gardner then turned to his friend "from the shoulder," and gently broke the intelligence to him, "that he was sorry, but that it was absolutely necessary to thrash that ferryman." Six-footer nodded his head but said nothing. It was plainly to be seen that he did not relish the job, by the way he shrugged his shoulders, but there was no help for it. So when they reached the shore, both stripped, and at it they went. Up and down the bank, over the sand, into the water, they fought, scratched, gouged, bit and rolled, till at the end of an hour the ferryman caved. Six-footer was triumphant, but it had been tough work. Going up to his employer, he scratched his head for a moment, and then broke forth:

"Look here, Mr. Gardner, your salary sets mighty well, but—I'm—of the opinion—that you're inclined to be quarrelsome. Here I've only been with you three days, and I've licked the three biggest men in the country. I think this firm had better dissolve, for you see, Mr. Gardner, I'm afraid you're inclined to be quarrelsome and I reckon I'll draw."

Execution of Colonel Hayne.

Among the distinguished men who fell victims during the war of the Revolution, was Col. Isaac Hayne, of South Carolina; a man who by his amiability of character and high sentiments of honor and uprightness, had secured the good will and affection of all who knew him. He had a wife and six children, the oldest a boy thirteen years of age. His wife, to whom he was tenderly attached, fell a victim to disease; an event hastened not improbably by the inconveniences and sufferings incident to a state of war, in which the whole family largely participated. Col. Hayne himself was taken prisoner by the British forces, and in a short time was executed on the gallows, under circumstances calculated to excite the deepest commiseration. A great number of persons, both English and Americans, interceded for his life. The ladies of Charleston signed a petition in his behalf; his motherless children were presented on their bended knees as humble suitors for their beloved father; but all in vain. During the imprisonment of the father, the eldest son was permitted to stay with him in prison. Beholding his only surviving parent, for whom he felt the deepest affection, loaded with irons and condemned to die, he was overwhelmed with consternation and sorrow. The wretched father endeavored to console him, by reminding him that the unavailing grief of the son tended only to increase his own misery; and he could even rejoice that his troubles were so near an end. "To morrow," said he, "I set out for immortality. You will accompany me to the place of execution; and when I am dead take my body and bury it by the side of your mother." The youth here fell on his father's neck, crying, "Oh, my father! my father! I will die for you! I will die with you!" Col. Hayne, as he was loaded with irons, was unable to return the embrace of his son, and merely said to him in reply—"Live, my son; live to honor God by a good life; live to serve your country; and live to take care of your brother and little sisters." The next morning Col. Hayne was conducted to the place of execution. His son accompanied him. Soon as they came in sight of the gallows, the father strengthened himself and said, "Now, my son, show yourself a man! That tree is the boundary of my life, and all my life's sorrows. Beyond that, the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. Don't lay too much at heart our seperation; it will be short. To-day I die; and you, my son, though but young, must shortly follow me." "Yes, my father," replied the broken-hearted youth, "I shall shortly follow you, for indeed, I feel that I cannot live long." And his melancholy anticipation was fulfilled in a manner more dreadful than is implied in the mere extinction of life. On seeing his father in the hands of the executioner, and then struggling in the halter, he stood like one transfixed and motionless with horror. Till then he had wept incessantly; but as soon as he saw that sight, the fountain of his tears were staunched, and he never wept more. He died insane; and in his last moments often called upon his father, in terms that brought tears from the hardest hearts.

Wonders of the Mississippi.

The difference of level between high and low water mark at Cairo is fifty feet. The width and depth of the river from Cairo and Memphis to New Orleans is not materially increased, yet immense additions are made to the quantity of water in the channel by large streams from both the eastern and western sides of the Mississippi. The question naturally arises: What becomes of this vast volume of water? It certainly never reaches New Orleans, and as certainly does not evaporate: and of course, it is confined to the channel of the river, for it would rise far above the entire region south of us.

If a well is sunk anywhere in the Arkansas bottom, water is found as soon as the water level of the Mississippi is reached. When the Mississippi goes down, the water sinks accordingly in the well. The owner of a saw-mill, some twenty miles from the Mississippi, in Arkansas, dug a well to supply the boilers of his engine, during the late flood. When the water receded, his well went down till his hose would no longer reach the water, and finally his well was dry. He dug a ditch to an adjacent lake to let the water into his well; the lake was drained, and the well was dry again—having literally drank ten acres of water in less than a week. The inference is, that the whole valley of the Mississippi, from its banks to its highlands on either side, rests on a porous substratum which absorbs the abundant waters, and thus prevents that degree of accumulation which would long since have swept New Orleans into the Gulf but for this provision of nature, to which alone it is attributable.

In fact, if the alluvial bottoms of the Mississippi were like the shores of Ohio, the vast plain from Cairo to New Orleans would to-day be part and parcel of the Gulf of Mexico, and this whole valley a vast fresh-water arm of the sea. Were the geological character of the valley different, the construction of levees, confining the water of the Mississippi to its channel, would cause the rise in the river to become so great at the South, that there no sufficient levee could be built. The current would be stronger and the accumulation of water greater as the levees are extended north of us.

Such results were reasonably enough anticipated; but the water instead of breaking the levees, permeates the porous soil, and the overflow is really beneath the surface of the swamps. Such, it seems to us, are the wise provisions of natural laws for the safety and ultimate reclamation of the rich country south of us.

We believe that the levee system will be successful, and that the object of its adoption will be attained. The porosity of the material used in making has caused most if not all of the crevasses. Men may deem it a superhuman task to wall in the Mississippi from Cairo to New Orleans, but our levees are the work of pigmies when contrasted with the dikes of Holland.—Natchez Paper.

A Few Plain Questions.

Democrats! cut this out and ask your know-nothing and republican neighbors the following simple questions.

Who are in favor of giving negroes the right of suffrage which they refuse to foreign-born citizens?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who passed the law in Massachusetts preventing foreign-born citizens from voting, when duly naturalized according to the Constitution of the United States?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who recommended the same law to be passed in New Jersey?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who recommended the same law to be passed in New York?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who sanctioned and approved that odious measure in Pennsylvania by giving silent consent in their late State convention.

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who introduced a bill in the legislature of Ohio to strike out the word "white" from the constitution in order to give negroes the right of suffrage?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who are in favor of foreigners not voting until they are 21 years in this country?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who voted against admitting Minnesota as a free State?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who voted against admitting Oregon as a free State?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who carried banners in 1856 upon which only sixteen States appeared where there should have been thirty-two?

The know-nothings and republicans.

Who were in favor of letting the Union slide?

The know-nothings and republicans.

☞ "Hello! Jim, what are you making?" inquired a young friend passing by. "Why, mother made apple-butter the other day, and she don't like it, so I am making it back into apples again."

NUMBER 157.

Our friend and neighbor, MR. JOHN TAYLOR, has suffered himself to be made the nominee of the Know Nothing-Black Republican-Amalgation party, of this county, for the office of Associate Judge, and as such is employing himself busily in electioneering with such Democrats as he thinks he may be able to wheedle into voting for him. He even descends from his Know Nothing dignity, to ask foreign-born citizens and Catholics to support him! Think of it, Democrats! The man whose name stands recorded in the minutes of the Know Nothing lodge of this borough, as the 157th person initiated into the Order, asking the men whom he took a SOLEMN OATH TO PROSCRIBE, to vote for him at the coming election! Is not his presumption the most arrogant ever heard of? He had better first renounce his allegiance to the Midnight Order, before he asks Catholics and naturalized citizens to support him. He had better first recant the following oath, which he took on the 29th of September, 1854:

"In the presence of Almighty God and these witnesses, your right hand resting on this HOLY BIBLE and CROSS, and your left hand raised towards heaven, in token of your sincerity, you do solemnly promise and declare that you will not VOTE nor give your influence for any man for ANY OFFICE in the gift of the people, unless he be an AMERICAN BORN citizen in favor of AMERICANS-BORN ruling America, nor if he be a ROMAN CATHOLIC," &c., &c.

We warn Democrats against the soft speeches and insinuating cajolery of No. 157. We do this not out of any personal enmity toward Mr. TAYLOR, for we like him as a neighbor, but because he is a most bitter and relentless enemy of the Democratic party. Democrats can do their organization no greater injury than by giving him their votes. What! vote for the rankest Abolitionist in Bedford and one, too, who superadds to his Abolitionism, the taint of Know Nothingism, of which he has never purged himself! He is the very man that the Opposition set up as their model—the very man, therefore, that Democrats should most actively oppose. No matter what the nature of his claims upon you, personally, you have a set-off to them, politically, which more than counterbalances them. Therefore, Democrats, when No. 157 comes to you for the purpose of electioneering with you, remind him of his Know Nothing oath which he has never renounced, of his votes for Abolition candidates, which he still contends were right, and tell him, as the boys say, to go and "shinny on his own side."

☞ The Abolitionists say that the Bill to prevent the intermarriage of whites and blacks, which the last Black Republican House of Representatives refused to pass, (and in opposition to which was recorded the vote of GEO. W. WILLIAMS,) was an "absurd law," was "unconstitutional," and that its passage would have been a disgrace to the State. Hence, according to their own declarations, GEO. G. WALKER, Esq., of Somerset county, one of their candidates for the Legislature, who voted for that Bill, was in favor of passing an "absurd law," an "unconstitutional" law, and a law that would bring disgrace upon the State. If WALKER is such a legislator, how can the Abolitionists ask the people to re-elect him?

"How would Pennsylvania look in the eyes of the world, if she would confess, as she would by the passage of such an absurd law, that her people were so much in the habit of marrying negroes that she had to pass a law to prevent it?"

Such is the apology made by the Black Republican Amalgamation supporters of Geo. W. WILLIAMS, for his vote, last winter, against the Bill to prevent the intermarriage of whites and blacks. They might as well say because Pennsylvania has laws to prevent murder, arson and theft, she must appear, "in the eyes of the world," a commonwealth of Cains, house-burners and thieves. If it be a disgrace to Pennsylvania to have a law upon her statute-books preventing the intermarriage of whites and blacks, then it follows that it is also a disgrace that she has laws to prevent such crimes as robbery and murder. But, say the Amalgamationists, it is not necessary to have a law to prevent whites and blacks from intermarrying. We answer, time was when such a law would have been unnecessary. In the days when the Abolition party was confined to a few counties in New York and Ohio, and before it spread from one end of the North to the other, as it has within the last few years, marriages between whites and blacks were unheard of.—But how is it now? The disgusting history of the Michigan case, the daughter of an Abolitionist (Judson) marrying a greasy, hideous old negro, is familiar to all. In our own State several cases of a similar nature have recently occurred. In Wilmot's district, the hot-bed of Pennsylvania Abolitionism, a white girl was last year married to a negro, and this marriage was brought about through the intrigues of white amalgamationists, among whom was a Black Republican Justice of the Peace. In Chester county, a few months ago, another instance of this sort took place. Hence we see that this evil of white and black amalgamation, is not visionary, but real, and that stern necessity requires that laws should be passed for its prevention. MR. WALKER, who is on the same ticket with MR. WILLIAMS, doubtless thought so when he voted for the Bill to prevent the intermarriage of whites and blacks. Nearly every Democrat in the last Legislature thought so. Every citizen of Pennsylvania who observes the aims and tendencies of Abolitionism, must think so, and if GEO. W. WILLIAMS were not steeped in negro-ism to the eyes, he would think so too.

— A POP VISIT.—Mr. J. R. Dunlingson, editor of the Reading "Daily Times," paid us a pop visit on Saturday evening, and extracted a promise from us to visit the "State of Berks," and take a look at Lauer's Artesian Well.—Patriot & Union.

If it was a "pop visit," your friend should have "extracted" the cork in place of that "promise." Lauer's Well is a great bore.

— In Massachusetts a foreigner cannot vote until he has been naturalized two years. In Rhode Island he cannot vote unless he is the owner of real estate. Both these States are in the hands of the Opposition.

— On Monday last, a serious accident occurred at the Union School House building, in this place. A German hod-carrier named Hoss, whilst on the scaffolding erected by the builders, happening to tread on a board that was defective, it gave way beneath him, and caused him to fall to the ground. He was rendered speechless and insensible by the fall, and received several severe contusions, but at last accounts it was supposed his injuries would not prove fatal.

— To all who are desirous of obtaining a good article in the hat line, we recommend the manufactory of Messrs. Wm. & J. C. Keyser, of this place. We speak "by the card," as we have worn a "tile" of their "make", for several months, and have found it quite "the thing."

—Gen. Sam Houston, it is reported, has been elected Governor of Texas. Old San Jacinto is hard to beat, especially when he is on a good platform. He was defeated both for Governor and U. S. Senator when a Know Nothing, but since his renunciation of Know Nothingism and since he has become a warm supporter of President Buchanan's administration, he seems to have regained the popularity he formerly enjoyed.

—Ex. Gov. Johnston is at present staying at the Springs. Although a man of much greater worth than most of the Opposition leaders in this State, he seems to be in bad odor with the politicians of his own party.

—We learn from the Somerset papers that some thieving scoundrel broke into the dwelling of Jacob Kimmell, Esq., of Berlin, one night last week, with intent to commit a robbery, but was discovered by Mrs. Kimmell (who was lying awake at the time of his entrance) before he had succeeded any further in his depredations than to rifle Mr. Kimmell's breeches pockets of what money they contained. On Mrs. Kimmell's giving the alarm, the burglar fell upon her and beat her violently with a chisel he had in his hand, after which he succeeded in making his escape.

— Dr. S. P. Brown, of Greensburg, and Jas. L. Brown, Esq., of Madison, Westmoreland co., are on a visit to our town. We have never met gentlemen of more agreeable manners or better social qualities than the Browns. Long may they wave.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

Pittsburg, Aug. 12, 1859.

EDITOR GAZETTE:

The Douglas men here are just now making strenuous efforts to fix up the Charleston Convention in their favor. If he (Douglas) is nominated, all right, and I am for him, but at the same time, I think it rather premature. Mr. Buchanan, like Jackson, is the best abused man of his day, in my opinion. He has ably and faithfully administered the Government, and has with his whole heart and soul, worked for the interest of the country, and the whole country, and will get due credit for it some day, if he should not in his own life time. He has labored to preserve the unity of the Government and to scatter the elements of discontent and disunion, which, at the commencement of his term of office, threatened more than at any previous period. In this he has done a service to his country for, which posterity will honor him and for which his memory will be employed forever in the hearts of his countrymen. I am no politician. I look for no office. I am a Democrat and heartily regret the discord that has been sown in our ranks. I hope for the sake of our common country, that in 1860 there will be "Union of the Democracy for the sake of the Union." If we have this, victory will again perch upon our banner, and our country will be saved. Yours truly, K.

THE ELECTION IN LOUISVILLE.

The Louisville Democrat gives the following account of the "freedom of elections" in that city. How long will it be blighted with the curse of know-nothingism? The Democrat says:

The old game of the know-nothing party—that of beating voters at the polls for voting their honest sentiments—swelled the majority of the opposition. From noon till the close of the polls but few democratic votes were cast at the Lafayette engine-house and at the Walnut street precinct in the second ward, and the few who voted were generally knocked down and beaten as they were retiring from the polls.—This is the freedom of elections in Louisville. Any low vagabond could vote the opposition ticket with impunity, and all was well with the crowd, who generally undertook to interpose and decide knotty points for the officers of the election. Such was the meddlesome interference of the out side regulators that they undertook to punish those very indiscreet citizens who would persist in voting the democratic ticket. Thus were hundreds of legal voters deterred from the polls.

When shall this thing cease to be? It is a vile blot upon the fair fame of our city. The pretension that yesterday's election expressed the real sentiments of our people and showed the condition of parties in Louisville is too absurd for serious consideration. Every policeman and scores and hundreds of citizens know better. At Shardines precinct, in this county, the conduct of the rounders and hullies was most disgraceful. Dozens of inoffensive Germans were threatened and knocked down for presenting themselves at the polls. Some were mobbed for being present at all, and shot at, as they ran away, to precipitate their flight.

This, too, was the "freedom of election" tendered the democracy by the regulators who, following their city brethern, undertook to regulate the county.

In the central wards of the city, where no open breaches of the peace occurred, many illegal votes were cast. A number of lads in their teens, and under twenty one years of age, were marshalled in some cases, we are informed by the police, and voted in the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth wards. Think of this, and of the boasted free elections in Louisville. It is a thing we read of—a myth, a something that we have not seen for years past in Louisville. It is a poorly bestowed honor, that of holding office under the state of things presented in a Louisville election.

THE KENTUCKY VOTE.—The vote cast in Kentucky at the late election, was very heavy. It considerably exceeds that given at the Presidential election. MAGOFFIN'S majority will be about eight thousand three hundred and Mr. BOYD'S for Lieutenant Governor, will be about eleven thousand; still, MR. BOYD'S vote is not as large as Mr. MAGOFFIN'S by several thousands.

THE CROUP.—The Journal of Health says: "When a child is taken with croup, instantly apply cold water—ice water if possible—suddenly and freely to the neck and chest with a sponge. The breathing will almost instantly be relieved. Soon as possible let the sufferer drink as much as as it can; then wipe it dry, cover it warm, and soon a quiet slumber will relieve all anxiety. A friend of ours who has repeatedly tried this remedy, informs us that it never failed to afford almost instant relief.

☞ A Letter from Utah states that the Mormons have nominated Gen. S. Eldredge as their Delegate in Congress, to take the place of Mr. John M. Bernhisel, who has occupied that position for several years. Affairs in the Territory presented no features of marked interest.]

"OLD BERKS" IN MOTION.—The Democracy of "Old Berks" held its annual County Meeting at Reading, on the 1st inst. Hon. J. Lawrence Getz presided. The meeting was very large, and the best feelings prevailed. Old Berks will redeem herself in October.

DICKENS IS COMING.—A private letter received by a well-known literary gentleman in New York, per Persia,) states that Dickens, the novelist, will visit this country in the early part of November, on a professional tour. He will deliver a course of lectures throughout the country.

PENN'A STATE FAIR.—The Pennsylvania Agricultural State Fair will be held at Philadelphia, on the 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th of September next. All the Railroads leading to Philadelphia have agreed to issue excursion tickets to persons wishing to attend the Fair, good from the 25th of September to the 1st of October, inclusive.

THE SLEEP OF ITALY.—Apropos of Longfellow's poem, in which sleeping Italy is pictured in the image of Enceladus under Etna, Prentice of the Louisville Journal, suggests:

"Longfellow may shout and sing "Enceladus, arise!" but the question is, can he shake off the effect of the third Nap?

NEW AGRICULTURAL SETTLEMENT.

TO ALL WANTING FARMS,
A RARE OPPORTUNITY IN A DELIGHTFUL AND HEALTHY CLIMATE 25 MILES SOUTH-EAST OF PHILADELPHIA, ON THE CAMDEN AND ATLANTIC RAILROAD, NEW JERSEY.

An old estate consisting of several thousand of acres of productive soil has been divided into Farms of various sizes to suit the purchaser. A population of some Fifteen Hundred, from various parts of the middle States and New England have settled there the past year, improved their places, and raised excellent crops. The price of the land is at the low sum of from $15 to $20 per acre, the soil of the best quality for the production of Wheat, Clover, Corn, Peaches, Grapes and Vegetables. IT IS CONSIDERED THE BEST FRUIT SOIL IN THE UNION. The place is perfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer. Crops of grain, grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the place itself, a correct judgment can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been, that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty vineyards and peach orchards, planted, and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.

THE MARKET,
as the reader may perceive from its location, is the BEST IN THE UNION.

Products bringing double the price than in locations away from the city, and more than double the price in the West. It is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this latitude come from New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand.—He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest, (in the West this is reversed,) he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 to $15 per thousand. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place, every article can be procured in the place; good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will sell land under cultivation, such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they come with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on refusal.

There are two daily trains to Philadelphia, and to all settlers who improve, THE RAILROAD COMPANY GIVES A FREE TICKET FOR SIX MONTHS AND A HALF-PRICE TICKET FOR THREE YEARS.

THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.

In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturally arisen, which presents inducements for any kind of business, particularly stores and manufactories. The Shoe business could be carried on in this place and market to good advantage, also cotton business, and manufactories of agricultural implements or Foundries for casting small articles. The improvement has been so rapid as to insure a constant and permanent increase of business. Town lots of a good size, we do not sell small ones, as it would affect the improvement of the place, can be had at from $100 and upwards.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly literary and agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton, can be obtained at 25 cents per annum.

Title indisputable—warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrance when money is paid. Route to the land: leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia for Hammonton by Railroad, 7½ A. M., or 4½ P. M. Fare 90 cents. When there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences on hand. Parties had better stop with Mr. Byrnes, a principal until they have decided as to purchasing, as he will show them over the land in his carriage, free of expense. Letters and applications can be addressed to Landis & Byrnes, Hammonton P. O., Atlantic Co., New Jersey, or S. B. Coughlin, 202 South Fifth Street, Philadelphia. Maps and information cheerfully furnished.

OSTER & CARN.

Bedford, July 15, 1858.

MARRIED:

On Thursday evening, the 11th inst., by the Rev. Wm. M. Deatrick, Mr. William H. Gates and Miss Elizabeth Bonar, both of the vicinity of Bedford Forge.

DIED:

On the 8th inst., at the residence of his father in Friend's Cove, Mr. John Weisel, in the 27th year of his age.

When the aged die, our thoughts naturally recur to the irreversible decree consequent upon the paradisial transgression; and when the little child is called away, we comfort ourselves with the oft repeated remark that they are the better off; but when youth and manhood in their middle days, are stricken down by the fell Destroyer, we pause and ask, "Why is it?" How dark and mysterious to us the ways of a righteous Providence often appear. This young man, universally admired for his integrity of character and beloved by all for the deep tone of his piety, was smitten in the midst of life and usefulness, by that monster, consumption, which annually lays its victims by the thousands in the tomb. How apparently afflictive this Providence, and how bereaving to his parents. He was a son who never disobeyed his earthly parents, and who loved to do his heavenly Father's will.

"When the righteous die, let the people consider."

On the 14th, Mrs. Margaret Hoffmeier, consort of the Rev. C. F. Hoffmeier, of Friend's Cove, aged 56 years, 8 months and 21 days.

DISEASES OF THE LIVER.

☞ When the celebrated Dr. Rush declared that drunkenness was a disease, he enunciated a truth which the experience and observation of medical men is every day confirming. The many insane excesses of those who indulge in the use of spirituous liquors, may be thus accounted for. The true cause of conduct, which is taken for infatuation, is very frequently a diseased state of the Liver. No organ in the human system, when deranged, produces a more frightful catalogue of diseases. And if, instead of applying remedies to the manifestations of disease, as is too often the case, physicians would prescribe with a view to the original cause, fewer deaths would result from diseases induced by a deranged state of the Liver. Three-fourths of the diseases enumerated under the head of Consumption, have their seat in a diseased Liver. Dr. M'Lane's celebrated Liver Pills, prepared by Fleming Bros., are a certain cure.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, manufactured by FEMING BROS. of PITTSBURG, PA. There are other Pills purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Liver Pills also his celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine without the signature of FLEMING BROS.

A VOICE FROM VIRGINIA.

Dr. Seth S. Hance:—I was in Baltimore in April 1854, and from a paper I received of yours was induced to buy a box of your Pills, recommended as a sovereign cure for epileptic fits. At that time one of my servants had been afflicted with fits about 12 years. When reaching home, I commenced with the pills acording to directions. I do not think she has had one since. My wife, though, is somewhat induced to believe she may have had one only. Enclosed you will find five dollars, for which you will please forward me two boxes. Your compliance will oblige me. Yours respectfully. M. S SLEDGE.

Dr. Hance's Epileptic Pills are also sovereign remedy for every modification of nervous diseases. The nervous sufferer, whether tormented by the acute, physical agony of neuralgia, tic doloreux, or ordinary headache, afflicted with vague terrors, weakened by periodical fits, threatened with paralysis, borne down and dispirited by that terrible lassitude which proceeds from a lack of nervous energy, or unnatural condition of the wonderful machinery which connects every member with the source of sensation, and thought—derives immediate benefit from the use of those pills, which at once calms, invigorates, and regulates the shattered nervous organization.

Sent to any part of the country by mail. free of postage. Address SETH S. HANCE, 108 Biltimore street, Baltimore, Md. Price, one box, $3; two, $5; twelve, $24.

COURT PROCLAMATION.

To the Coroner, the Justices of the Peace, and Constables in the different Townships in the County of Bedford, Greeting.

KNOW YE that in pursuance of a precept to me directed, under the hand and seal of the Hon. FRANCIS M. KIMMELL, President of the several Courts of Common Pleas in the Sixteenth District, consisting of the counties of Franklin, Bedford, Somerset and Fulton, and by virtue of his office of the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail delivery for the trial of capital and other offenders therein and in the General Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace; and JOHN G. HARTLEY and A. J. SNIVELY, Esqs., Judges of the same Court, in the same County of Bedford, You and each of you are hereby required to be and appear in your proper persons with your Records, Recognizances, Examinations, and other remembrances before the Judges aforesaid, at Bedford, at a Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and General Quarter Sessions of the Peace therein to be holden for the county of Bedford, aforesaid, on the 5th Monday of August, (being the 29th day,) at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day there and then to do those things to which your several offices appertain.

BEDFORD CLASSICAL INSTITUTE.

REV. JOHN LYON,
T. LYTTLETON LYON, A. M., } PRINCIPALS.

THE Summer session of this Institution will open on Friday, the 1st day of July 1859.

It is the design of the Principals, to make this Academy, in all respects, a first class Institution, for the thorough instruction of youth of both sexes, and to prepare them for any profession or position in life.

The high moral and scientific tone of the school is well known to this community.

The spacious brick building adjoining the residence of Dr. Wm. Watson, has been secured for the purposes of the Academy.

A few boys, (the number is limited to ten,) will be received into the family of the Principals, as boarders.

The beauty of the scenery and the salubrity of the climate render Bedford a most desirable location for such a school.

Persons from abroad, visiting at the Springs, can be near their children during the summer.

Terms. $200 per year, including boarding, washing, fuel, light, and Tuition in all the branches.

CELEBRATED
AND LIVER PILLS.

WE beg leave to call the attention of the Trade, and more especially the Physicians of the country, to two of the most popular remedies now before the public. We refer to

Dr. Chas. M'Lane's Celebrated
Vermifuge and Liver Pills.

We do not recommend them as universal Cure-alls, but simply for what their name purports, viz.:

THE VERMIFUGE,

For expelling Worms from the human system. It has also been administered with the most satisfactory results to various Animals subject to Worms.

THE LIVER PILLS,

For the cure of LIVER COMPLAINTS, all BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS, SICK HEAD-ACHE, &c. In cases of preparatory to or after taking Quinine, they almost invariably make a speedy and permanent cure.

FEVER AND AGUE,

As specifics for the above mentioned diseases, they are UNRIVALED, and never known to fail when administered in accordance with the directions.

Their unprecedented popularity has induced the proprietors,

FLEMING BROTHERS,
PITTSBURGH, PA.

to dispose of their Drug business, in which they have been successfully engaged for the last Twenty Years, and they will now give their undivided time and attention to their manufacture. And being determined that Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills shall continue to occupy the high position they now hold among the great remedies of the day, they will continue to spare neither time nor expense in procuring the Best and Purest material, and compound them in the most thorough manner. Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS. Pittsburgh, Pa.

P.S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros. Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

For sale at the Drug Stores fo Drs. Reamer & Harry, Bedford, and all other Druggists in the county.
May 20, 1859-1y.

DR. HOOFLAND'S
GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
DR. HOOFLAND'S BALSAMIC CORDIAL,

The great standard medicines of the present age, have acquired their great popularity only through years of trial. Unbounded satisfaction is rendered by them in all cases; and the people have pronounced them worthy.

Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Debility of the Nervous System, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered liver or weakness of the stomach and digestive organs, are speedily and permanently cured by the GERMAN BITTERS.

The Balsamic Cordial has acquired a reputation surpassing that of any similar preparation extant. It will cure, WITHOUT FAIL, the most severe and long-standing

Cough, Cold, or Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Influenza, Croup, Pneumonia, Incipient Consumption, and has performed the most astonishing cures ever known of Confirmed Consumption.

A few doses will also at once check and cure the most severe Diarrhœa proceeding from COLD IN THE BOWELS.

These medicines are prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON & Co., No. 418 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and are sold by druggists and dealers in medicines everywhere, at 75 cents per bottle. The signature of C. M. JACKSON will be on the outside wrapper of each bottle.

In the Almanac published annually by the proprietors, called EVERYBODY'S ALMANAC, you will find testimony and commendatory notices from all parts of the country. These Almanacs are given away by all our agents.

For sale at the Drug Stores of Drs. Reamer & Harry, Bedford, and all other Druggists in the county.

BEDFORD COUNTY MAP.

I WILL make a directory map of Bedford County from actual surveys, if a sufficient number of subscribers can be raised to justify me in the enterprise.

The map will be large and well finished and will show the location of all the public roads streams, boundary lines, towns, villages, Hotels, Churches, School Houses, Post Offices, stores, grist mills, saw mills &c., &c., and will contain the names of all the property holders, and show the busines that almost each one is engaged in. I will put on the same sheet maps of all the towns and large villages, also tables and statistics of the County and (if taken in time) the census of 1860. Pains will be taken to make it as reliable as any Map in the State.

HARTLEY.

Bedford, August 5, '59.-3t.

WANTED, All persons indebted to the late firm of Oster, Manspeaker & Carn, to call and settle their accounts either by cash or note. Circumstances demand a speedy settlement of the Books of the old firm, which are in the hands of S. Carn, for settlement, otherwise they shall be put to the unpleasant necessity of adding costs.

Bedford, Aug. 5,'59.-2m.

SAVE YOUR MONEY!

THE UNDERSIGNED would respectfully inform the travelling public, that he has established a tri-weekly line of stages between Bedford and Latrobe. The route is that of the old Philadelphia Turnpike, leading from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, being one of the best coach roads in the Union.

Passengers will REACH trains of cars for Pittsburg as early as by going to Hollidaysburg or Johnstown. The fare to Pittsburg on this route is Four Dollars and Twenty Cents being than on any other route from Bedford to that point. Coaches leave the Washington Hotel, Bedford, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning, at 6½ o'clock, and the Depot at Latrobe every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning, after the arrival of the mail train from Pittsburg.

Bedford Foundry.

THE subscribers having purchased the Bedford Foundry of Messrs. Washabaugh and Bannon, would most respectfully announce to the citizens of Bedford and adjoining counties that they are prepared to make and furnish all kinds of CASTINGS for Grist and Saw-mills, Threshing Machines Ploughs, Apple-mills, Cooking, TEN PLATE, AND COAL STOVES, SLED AND Sleigh soles, wash kettles, of different sizes, wagon boxes of all sizes, farmers' bells, (a superior article), oven doors, and every thing usually made in a country Foundry.

Ploughs.--- Woodcock, Seyler and HILL SIDE PLOUGHS.—Also, a new PLUG PLOUGH, to which we call the especial attention of our farmers—a superior article to the old Plug Plough, with two kinds of points, shares and landsides to suit all ploughs in general use in this county. Turning and fitting of iron patterns made to order, and all kinds of repairing done at the shortest notice and at low prices. All our own work made of the very best material, and warranted to give satisfaction.

Farmers and others would do well to call and examine our work before purchasing elsewhere, as we are determined to meet the immergencies of the times, we will sell low for CASH, or country produce.

Pig and bar iron, horses and lumber, taken in exchange for work.

Daily, except Sundays for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all other Chronic Complaints, complicated with or causing pulmonary diseases, including Catarrh, Heart Disease, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Female Complains, &c. DRS. FITCH & SIKES, would state that their treatment of Consumption is based upon the fact that the disease exists in the blood and system at large, both before and during its development in the lungs, and they therefore employ Mechanical, Hygiene and Medecinal Inhalations, which they value highly, but only as Palliatives, (having no Curative effect when used alone,) and Invalids are earnestly cautioned against wasting the precious time of curability on any treatment based upon the plausible, but false idea that the "seat of the disease can be reached in a direct manner by Inhalation," for as before stated, the seat of the disease is in the blood and its effects only in the lungs.

A FARM WITHIN ONE

mile of the Rail Road and two miles of Stonerstown, in the Broad Top Coal region, containing about 160 acres, being good bottom land—about one-half cleared and the balance well timbered. The farm is well improved, and a fine spring of excellent water at the door of the house—also two good orchards of fruit trees on the premises.

ALSO,

A farm in Morrison's cove, adjoining lands of Da, vid Stuckey, Barley's heirs, Jacob Furry and others, containing about 200 acres, one half cleared and the balance well timbered, with an abundance of locust and chestnut timber. There are several never failing springs upon the premises with a constantly stream running through the farm. There is also a large and thrifty young orchard bearing fruit thereon. The improvements are a rough cast House, Log Barn and out buildings.

ALSO,

160 acres of land in Harrison County, Iowa, of first class prairie, close to timber and within a few miles of the Missouri river above Council Bluffs.

ALSO,

334 acres in Story county, Iowa.

ALSO,

113 acres in Pottowattamie county, Iowa, near Council Bluffs.

ALSO

Lot no 8 of block 53 in the city of Omaha, Nebraska Territory.

ALSO,

640 acres in Ripley County, Missouri.

—ALSO—

1280 acres of land in Austin county, Texas, East of the Brazos River on the Texas Central Rail Road, which runs through the land. It is well watered being upon the head waters of Cypress Creek.

—ALSO—

320 acres in Comanche county, Texas, on Wresler's Creek, 4 miles East of the Leon River, and on the line of the Memphis and El Passo Rail Road, now in process of construction.

ALSO,

The farm in Morrison's Cove, adjoining Bloomfield Furnace, known as the "Pearson property" lately owned by David Daniels, containing 131 ecres and 60 perches, with excellent orchard of fruit trees thereon and never failing water at the door. The improvements are one large frame House, one log House and barn, with convenient out-buildings. The land is good—produces well and is in a high state of cultivation. A good pike is close by leading to Hollidaysburg which with the Furnaces make a ready market at the door for all kinds of produce.

THE SALAMANDER SAFES OF PHILADELPHIA AGAINST THE WORLD.

Evans & Watson

Have had the surest demonstration in the following certificate that their manufacture of Salamander Safes has at length fully warranted the representations which have been made of them as rendering an undoubted security against the terrific element:

Philadelphia, April 12th, 1856.

Messrs. EVANS & WATSON,—Gentlemen,—It affords us the highest satisfaction to state to you, that owing to the very protective qualities of two of the Salamander Safes which we purchased of you some few months since, we saved a large portion of our jewelry, and all our books, papers, &c., exposed to the calamitous fire in Ranstead Place, on the morning of the 11th instant.

When we reflect that these Safes were located in the fourth story of the building we occupied, and that they fell subsequently into a heap of burning ruins, where the vast concentration of heat caused the brass plates to melt, we cannot but regard the preservation of their valuable contents as most convincing proof of the great security afforded by your Safes.

We shall take much pleasure in recommending them to men of business as a sure reliance against fire.

LATE FIRE IN DUBUQUE, IOWA.

DUBUQUE, Jan. 7, 1859.

GENTS:—I am requested by Mr. T. A. C. Cochrane, of this place, to say to you that on the morning of the 4th instant, about 3 o'clock, his store took fire, and the entire stock of goods were destroyed. The heat became so suddenly intense that none of the goods could possibly be saved; but fortunately his books and papers which were in one of your Champion Safes, were all preserved perfectly. And well they may be called Champion, for during the whole conflagration there was one incessant pouring of flame directly upon the safe which contained them. And still, upon opening it, the inside was found to be scarcely warm, while the outside was most severely scorched.

Yours truly,
N. A. McCLURE.
